

THE CHURCH IN WALES FACULTY SYSTEM A GUIDANCE NOTE

Introduction

Faculty refers to the Church's system of permission for alterations and repairs to church buildings (including contents) and churchyards. Faculty is regulated under the Faculty Rules of the Constitution of the Church in Wales through the Rules of the Diocesan Courts (Appendix I). Each diocese operates the faculty system in its area.

The Faculty system also enables the Church in Wales to be exempt from the need to apply for Listed Building Consent for its church buildings in certain circumstances (see Section 16 below). This is known as Ecclesiastical Exemption.

This guidance note seeks to simply explain the faculty system to help those involved, especially parishes, understand the system better. It is set out in a series of 'Frequently Answered Questions' (FAQs).

1. What is a faculty?

A Faculty is an ecclesiastical licence which gives permission to make physical alterations. It is the Church in Wales' mechanism for controlling and approving works and changes to its church property. It is a permission system which seeks to carefully consider proposals before changes are made and includes provision for expert advice and external consultation in arriving at a decision.

In January 2018, the Representative Body of the Church in Wales introduced a new Online Faculty System which now processes three types of faculty application: List A, List B and Full. Previously there was only one type of faculty application (Full) for all types of work which was submitted on a paper form. List A and B applications are a reduced form of full faculty and cover routine maintenance, like-for-like repairs and straightforward works (eg. replacing a boiler) that have little or no impact on the historic fabric of the church or churchyard.

2. Who grants a faculty?

A full faculty is granted by the Diocesan Chancellor. A List B faculty is granted by the Diocesan Registrar. Both are legally qualified (although the Chancellor is usually a Judge) and assess each application for a faculty on the basis of the 'evidence' presented and the application's compliance with the Faculty Rules.

Such evidence will come from the supporting documentation attached to the application (eg. architect's plans and specifications, builder's quotes, photographs, etc) supplied by the applicant. In the case of a full faculty application, the Chancellor will consider advice from the Diocesan Advisory Committee (DAC), observations from local people (every faculty application is publicised) and certain statutory consultees (Cadw, Local Planning Authorities, Amenity Societies and the Royal Commission on Ancient and Historic Monuments of Wales).

3. What does the DAC do?

The DAC is the principal body which advises the Diocesan Chancellor. It consists of clergy (Archdeacons) as well as specialists in areas such as architecture, archaeology, history, bells or organs. The Committee is voluntary and the Church in Wales relies on the generosity of these volunteers in giving their time and expertise to the DAC.

The DAC is managed by a Secretary who coordinates meetings and applications with the Registrar of the Diocese. Whilst a key part of the DAC's work is in meeting to discuss proposals, they are also there to offer guidance and advice to parishes generally (eg. pre-application advice). It is therefore strongly recommended that parishes discuss proposals at an early stage with their DAC – it could save time and money and will certainly make the application process smoother.

4. Is there any work that does not require a faculty?

Yes. The rules include various 'minor matters' where a faculty is not required, although it is recommended that parishes still record these as a List A item on the Online Faculty System. The rules are quite detailed but essentially mean that no faculty is needed for things like:

- Moving furniture
- Temporary additions for events and special occasions
- Cleaning (only) of gutters and drainage pipework
- Refixing or replacing length(s) of rainwater guttering in a like-for-like manner
- Re-fixing or replacing a small number of slipped or broken roof slates/tiles, or section of leadwork on a like-for-like* basis
- Replacement of light bulbs, light fittings and/or other electrical fittings on a like-for-like basis where no new cables or additional fittings are required

*It should not be assumed that 'like for like' work does not require a faculty. For example, if an inappropriate material has been used previously, this should be corrected. Discuss with your DAC Secretary in each case.

It should also be noted that introduction of items into a church will need a faculty eg. plaques, paintings, permanent fittings and furniture, etc. There is also a presumption against granting a faculty for memorial plaques in churches except in very special cases.

5. What about emergency works?

Sometimes, there can be an immediate need to undertake works when some unforeseen incident has occurred such as:

- a) Where there is a serious threat to the building's security and contents (eg. following forced entry, vandalism or weather damage, etc)
- b) Where there is a serious risk to the health and/or safety of the public or persons (eg due to structural instability resulting from accidental impact, weather damage, fire, flood, etc)

- c) Where there is a serious risk to the integrity of the building fabric (eg. resulting from examples such as those given in (b) above and theft of critical materials, such as lead)
- d) Where the cancellation or severe disruption of an important and imminent planned event (eg. wedding, concert, etc.) is unavoidable as a result of the failure of building services (eg. failure or malfunction of electrical or water supply, heating plant or associated fuel supply, lighting or drainage system)
- e) Where it is necessary to comply with measures necessary to fulfil obligations of building insurance associated with any of the above situations

Emergency works are different from works that need to be completed urgently (as identified in a Quinquennial Inspection report). Emergency works relate to works where a delay in acting could prove seriously problematic, especially where public safety is concerned.

In these circumstances, you should immediately contact your Archdeacon, and, if possible, your DAC secretary. They are able to authorise the minimum necessary works required to deal with the emergency so that a faculty application can be submitted later to cover any more works that may be required as a result of the emergency. Do not forget to inform the Ecclesiastical Insurance Group (EIG) as soon as is feasible.

Further information on emergency works is available from the Property Department of the Representative Body in a separate guidance note: Call 02920 348200 or email property@churchinwales.org.uk for more information.

6. Who can apply for a faculty?

Anyone can apply for a faculty though it is usually the incumbent and churchwardens (or their authorised agent). The views of the PCC will always be required for a faculty to be considered.

7. How do I apply for a Faculty?

It is necessary to complete an online faculty application via the Online Faculty System (please note that as at August 2019, the Diocese of Bangor has not adopted the Online Faculty System, so please contact the DAC Secretary on 01248 354999). The amount of information and detail required is dependent on the type of application you are making ie. List A, List B or Full. If you have any queries, get in touch with your DAC Secretary.

For information on how to register with the Online Faculty System and complete an online application, click on the following links:

OFS Registration Guidance for Applicants
OFS List A & B Faculty Application Guidance
OFS Full Faculty Application Guidance

The key to submitting a good faculty application (List B and Full) is to provide the appropriate amount of information that will enable a full and detailed assessment by the Registrar and/or DAC and Chancellor. The biggest cause of delay in considering an application is the provision of inadequate or limited information. See Appendix II to view guidance on the types of supporting documents that will be required for different types of full faculty applications. If you are unsure what type of information should accompany an application, consult your DAC Secretary.

It is often helpful, especially for larger works, to ask your professional advisor to submit the application on your behalf as they should be able to provide the necessary information. The key issue is to clearly show what the present situation is like and what the situation will be after the works are completed. Photographs can be very useful in this respect.

It is also vital to fully justify your proposal. This is best done by setting out your proposals in terms of the significance of the building and the need for the proposal. A Statement of Significance and a Statement of Needs (and sometimes a Heritage Impact Assessment) should therefore accompany every full faculty application. Your DAC secretary can explain more of this process.

8. I am not sure what work is needed. Should I still apply for a faculty?

If you are aware that work is needed but you are not sure exactly what should be done, or you do not want to incur high fees from a professional advisor, you can seek pre-application advice from the DAC. Contact your DAC Secretary to arrange this (you may be asked to complete a simple form outlining your initial proposals to help with this process).

9. How long will the process take?

This is dependent on the type of faculty application you are making. It is therefore difficult to give precise time limits to the process. List A applications for routine maintenance and very minor repairs require no formal consultation and can be completed online quickly. List B applications normally only require consultation with an appropriate DAC member or members (not the full committee) and are reviewed by the Diocesan Registrar, who takes the views of the member/s into consideration when making his/her determination. Full applications are discussed at a formal DAC meeting and may also require consultation with external statutory bodies (such as Cadw, Local Planning Authority, Amenity Societies, etc). They are determined by the Diocesan Chancellor who takes the advice of the DAC, consultee responses and any comments from the public into consideration when making his/her determination. The full application process will be quickest if:

- You discuss your proposed works with the DAC secretary in the first instance (ie. seek pre-application advice)
- Provide full information in accordance with the online faculty application guidance
- Provide a full justification for your proposals
- Provide a Statement of Significance for your building and a Heritage Impact Assessment
- Use a professional to provide accurate and detailed information
- Consult widely on your proposals before submitting them
- Ensure your Archdeacon is aware of your submission

10. What if a faculty is refused?

For full faculty applications, if the Diocesan Chancellor refuses to grant a faculty after considering all the evidence submitted, there is a procedure for an appeal to a Provincial Court. There is no right for objectors to appeal where a faculty is granted unless they can show some failure of judicial process.

11. Who should I consult as part of my faculty application?

For full faculty applications, it is necessary to place a notice outside your church giving people 28 days to submit their comments on the proposal to the Diocesan Registrar. There is an online form for this notice.

For listed buildings, the DAC Secretary will seek the views of various bodies (Cadw, Local Authority, Amenity Societies, etc). Your faculty application will be advertised on the Diocesan website to ensure appropriate publicity of proposals. However, it is sensible for you or your advisers to consult these organisations before you submit your faculty, particularly for significant work or controversial proposals.

Where works significantly affect the property, the Representative Body (RB), as owner, will likewise be consulted by the DAC Secretary. Again, it is sensible to consult with the RB in advance of your faculty application.

It will also help consideration of your case if you can show that your local community and key stakeholders have been consulted, and support what you are trying to do. This will be particularly important for projects which develop the community use and purpose of your building.

12. Does faculty cover any other buildings as well as a church?

You need a faculty for works to your church or in your churchyard. If there is a building or structure within the curtilage of the church, works to it will also need a faculty. Examples would be bier houses or lychgates.

If your church is listed, any separately listed structures within its curtilage will NOT need listed building consent from the Local Planning Authority. However, if your church is not listed, these listed structures WILL require listed building consent. Always consult your DAC Secretary for further information as the law has recently changed in respect of this.

New gravestones or repairs to existing ones will not generally require a faculty provided they fall within the limits of the churchyard regulations of the Constitution.

Grave spaces can only be reserved by grant of faculty and this will only be granted in exceptional circumstances.

Further information on the management of churchyards and gravestones is available from the Property Department of the Representative Body in a separate guidance note. Call 02920 348200 or email property@churchinwales.org.uk for more information.

13. Why is so much information requested for a full faculty application?

It is true a full faculty application asks more questions than might be found on a secular application form for listed building consent. This is because faculty is the only form of consent that the church itself requires – it is a one-step process – and allows for all issues that might be of interest to the church to be covered in one process.

14. When do I have to seek planning permission in addition to faculty?

You should always seek advice on whether planning permission is needed as it is a technical area. Your professional advisor and your DAC Secretary will be able to advise and/or the Property Department of the Representative Body. In principle, planning permission is needed for any material building or engineering operation or change of use. Typical examples where planning permission will be needed, in addition to faculty, are:

- For an extension to your building
- Works that materially change the external appearance (this will include painting the outside of a previously unpainted listed building or installing a roof light)
- Significantly changing the use of the church such as installing offices or a cafe
- Installing a mobile phone mast on the tower
- Installing new paths or altering layout

Your local authority planning department will be able to advise and local policies will differ in each area. You should check carefully in each case as the consequences of not obtaining planning permission when it is required can be severe, including an enforcement order to undo the works (despite the granting of a faculty).

15. Do I need a faculty for works to trees?

No. BUT you will need the consent of the Archdeacon and he/she will need to be satisfied that the works are needed, usually with evidence from a qualified tree specialist.

Particular care should be taken when contemplating works to yew trees especially Ancient or Veteran Yew trees. Details of these trees can be found on the Ancient Yew Group website¹.

If your church lies within a Conservation Area or is protected by a Tree Preservation Order (TPO), you will also need consent from your local authority. You can check whether a tree has a TPO by contacting your local authority.

16. I have heard about ‘Ecclesiastical Exemption’, what does it mean?

The Church in Wales is classed as an exempt denomination as it has demonstrated that its own internal system of building permission (ie. the faculty system) is equivalent to the secular system. This means that works to listed churches and other structures within its curtilage do not require separate listed building consent from the Local Planning Authority. This “ecclesiastical exemption” is part of national legislation as described in the Ecclesiastical Exemption (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) (Wales) Order 2018. The accompanying guidance, Managing Change to Listed Places of Worship: Ecclesiastical Exemption, can be viewed and downloaded from the Cadw² website.

Such an exemption is a valuable concession but does mean that the faculty system must be robust and stand up to scrutiny. It must balance the needs of the church and the conservation of heritage.

However, the exemption does not extend to Planning Permission (this is a different consent to Listed Building Consent). See section 14 for more information.

Representations or Objections

67. Subject to Rule 68 the Representative Body, within twenty-eight days of its receipt of the copies referred to in Rule 66 shall return the papers to the Registrar, accompanied either by any written observations, representations or objections it wishes to raise thereon, or by a written statement that it has none such to offer.

68. The Representative Body, by notice addressed to the Registrar, may require the Diocesan Advisory Committee, the Commission, the Archdeacon or other person appointed under Rule 69 by the Bishop, to provide a further report on any matter it wishes to raise on the Application. Within twenty-eight days of the date of such notice, the Diocesan Advisory Committee, the Commission, the Archdeacon or the other person appointed under Rule 69 by the Bishop, as the case may be, shall submit the further report in writing to the Registrar under Form 7 Schedule 3, who thereupon shall send a copy thereof to the Representative Body. The provisions of Rule 67 shall apply as regards the report referred to in this Rule.
69. The Diocesan Advisory Committee or the Commission, as the case may be, within fifty-six days of the receipt of the copies referred to in Rule 62, shall submit to the Registrar, in written form, signed by its Chairman, its advice, addressed to the Chancellor, as to the artistic, aesthetic or architectural merits of the works described in the Application together with any representations from any bodies referred to in Rule 64 or to whom the Notice referred to in Rule 60 has been sent. The Archdeacon in whose archdeaconry the subject of the Application lies shall, if he/she sees fit or if requested by the Chancellor, add his or her separate written advice to the Chancellor as to the theological merits of the works. If the archdeaconry be vacant, or if the Archdeacon be unavailable or incapacitated, and in the case of all Applications relating to any Cathedral, including the Cathedral Church of St Woolos, the Diocesan Bishop shall appoint a suitable person to act in the place of the Archdeacon under Form 8 in Schedule 3.
70. Within seven days of the receipt of applications, observations, representations, objections or statements from the Representative Body under Rule 67, the Diocesan Advisory Committee and the Commission, the Registrar shall refer such papers to the Chancellor.

Citation

71. The Chancellor, within twenty-eight days of his receipt of the Application, documents and papers, shall either grant the faculty and Rules 84, 85 and 86 shall apply, or issue a Citation addressed to the Applicant and the Representative Body and all other interested persons, including the Archdeacon or other person appointed under Rule 69 by the Bishop, which Citation shall follow Form 14 in Schedule 3.
72. In the case of an application for a Faculty relating to a church other than a Cathedral or the Cathedral Church of St Woolos, at any time prior to the grant of the Faculty, or the issue of the Citation, the Chancellor, the Registrar, or the Diocesan Advisory Committee, may seek the advice of the Commission on such application, whereupon the proceedings under Rule 71 shall be stayed for a period not exceeding twenty-eight days, during which time the advice of the Commission shall be furnished and, if sought by the Registrar, or the Diocesan Advisory Committee, be made available, by them, to the Chancellor.
73. The Citation shall be displayed by the Chapter Clerk, or the Churchwardens, as the case may be, in the location or locations mentioned in Rule 60, for a period of fourteen days commencing within three days of the receipt of the Citation. The Citation, endorsed with a certificate of due display under this rule, shall be returned to the Registrar within three days after the expiry of the period of display.
74. The Registrar, within fourteen days of the issuing of the Citation, shall send a copy thereof to any person, body or society who, or which, has made representations.

75. The Chancellor, at any stage in the proceedings, may order the issue of a further Citation or Citations following the procedure of Rules 71 and 73.
- 76.1 Any person wishing to oppose the Application (whether all of it or only part of it) shall do so by lodging with the Registrar a Notice of Opposition to the Faculty within twenty-one days of the date when the Citation (or the latest Citation, as the case may be) was first displayed under Rule 73.
- 76.2 A Notice of Opposition shall follow Form 11 in Schedule 3 and shall set out in paragraphs, numbered consecutively, the grounds of opposition.
77. When a Citation has been issued, no Faculty shall be granted or refused until after the period for lodging Notices of Opposition has expired.
78. If, by the relevant date, no Notice of Opposition to the Faculty has been lodged, the Chancellor may grant or refuse the Faculty without a hearing, in which case he shall do so within seven days after the date for lodging Notices of Opposition has expired. Otherwise, subject to the provisions of Rule 79, the Chancellor shall fix a date for a hearing, which shall not be less than twenty-one nor more than forty-two days after the date of such expiry. The Registrar shall give notice of the date of the hearing to the Applicant, those who have given Notice of Opposition and all other interested parties.
- 79.1 The Chancellor, before fixing a date for a hearing and should he/she deem such a course appropriate, may invite the parties to accept judgment on the basis of written representations, rather than by way of hearing. If all the parties so agree in writing, the Registrar shall require them to submit their respective representations to him/her within twenty-one days after the expiry of the period for lodging Notices of Opposition.
- 79.2 After receipt of such representations, the Registrar shall furnish all parties with a copy of each other party's representations and shall allow them twenty-one days in which to reply thereto in writing.
80. Within fourteen days after receiving notification of the date for a hearing, or after submitting written representations under Rule 79, as the case may be, any person, body or society who or which had given Notice of Opposition to the Faculty shall either lodge with the Registrar as security for costs such a sum as the Chancellor may determine, or execute a Bond in the same form set out in Form 12 of Schedule 3 for the same purpose and in the same sum, with any sureties required and approved by the Chancellor. Failing such lodgement or Bond, the Chancellor may grant the Faculty, disregarding such Notice or Notices of Opposition.
81. Neither the Archdeacon nor other person appointed under Rule 69 by the Bishop, the Diocesan Bishop nor the Representative Body shall be liable for costs.
82. At the hearing of an Application the Chancellor may, on such terms as he or she considers just, give permission to be heard to any person, body or society who or which had not previously been a party to the proceedings.

Grant or refusal of Faculty

- 83.1 The Chancellor, within twenty-eight days after the hearing, or of the last day allowed by the Registrar for the filing of replies to any written representations, as the case may be, shall either grant or refuse the Faculty and in either case give reasons for his/her decision.

- 83.2 If the Chancellor does not state his/her decision and the reasons for it orally at the conclusion of the hearing, the Registrar shall inform the parties and persons or bodies referred to in Rule 68 of the Judgment as soon as may be thereafter and shall send a copy of such Judgment to the parties no more than three days after the receipt by the Registrar of such Judgment.
84. The Faculty may be granted with or without conditions.
- 85.1 The grant or refusal of the Faculty shall be evidenced in writing, in either case signed by the Chancellor. Such grant or refusal shall follow Form 10a or Form 10b in Schedule 3 as the case may be.
- 85.2 The Faculty shall be implemented within a period of five years from the date of the grant thereof or other such shorter period as the Chancellor directs or shall otherwise lapse.
86. Upon the grant or refusal of the Faculty, the Registrar shall send the grant or refusal, as the case may be, to the Applicant, with copies to the Representative Body, the Secretaries of the Diocesan Advisory Committee and (if it be involved) the Commission, the Chapter Clerk or the Secretary of the Parochial Church Council (as the case may be), the Archdeacon or other person appointed under Rule 69 by the Bishop, and all others who may have made material representations in the course of any proceedings under these Rules.
87. Upon completion of the works authorised by the Faculty, or of such part of the works as, for the time being, has been carried out, the Applicant shall send to the Registrar a Certificate (countersigned by the architect, chartered building surveyor or other professional adviser, if one has been engaged) to the effect that the works have been executed in accordance with the terms of the Faculty and, at the same time, shall send a copy of such Certificate to the Representative Body and to the Secretaries of the Committee and (if it be involved) of the Commission. Such Certificate shall follow Form 13 in Schedule 3.
88. In any case to which this Part applies, the Deputy Chancellor shall have all the powers and may perform all the duties of the Chancellor for whom he/she is appointed to act pursuant to section 24 (3) of Chapter IX.
